

Generating calibration gas with a diffusion tube

Suitable for continuous generation of single component gases for calibration over sustained periods of time.

*The products may not be sold depending on countries and regions.